Assignment 2

- 2 personal websites of good communications

1. Cassie Evans's Blog

Cassie Evans' portfolio is a remarkable example of a personal website that effectively showcases her front-end development skills. Through the use of custom animations and interactive elements, she creates an engaging user experience that sets her apart in the field of web development.

2. Steinkühler - Digital Film, Design and VFX Artist

This page is designed as a portfolio with a smooth scrolling layout that presents all relevant information clearly. The color palette conveys a sense of modernity and elegance.

- 2 personal websites of poor communications

Bob Saget

Bob Saget's personal website struggles with outdated design and poor user communication. The cluttered layout and lack of clear navigation make it difficult for visitors to engage with the content effectively.
